Eventually we set off again, the atmosphere now tense and charged. A slow walk through London - Sunday afternoon, everywhere more-or-less deserted. Chanting to ourselves. A boring, useless march. An hour later we reach a park where there is to be some kind of rally. Half-hearted involvement, it seems as if everyone feels let-down by the way the demonstration has been organised - ineffective, boring, pointless and not even good publicity. It takes a few minutes for people to start ignoring the idea of a 'rally', instead walking off en masse back to Trafalgar Square. The march has now reformed and turned round and is heading back to where the planned National Front marchers are going to be. In Trafalgar Square there's the non-stop picket to get the release of Nelson

Inevitably there are doubts and questions as to what kind of action is effective against fascists. Critically speaking, the AFA's decision to lay a wreath at the Cenotaph along with the Queen, Thatcher, Kinnock and the MP seems to legitimise what is so obviously a patriotic ritual. Rememberance Sunday isn't about remembering the victims of fascism at all - it's about the memory of those who died for their country. The Second World War wasn't a fight against fascism in the sense that we all believe - it was a fight by several governments to uphold their economic and power-strutting interests. The people who died in that war (and all the other wars which Remembrance Sunday pays homage to - including the Falklands War) were not victims of fascism in particular, they were victims of war, of the class war, of authoritarianism on both sides. The Holocaust is now used as a propaganda tool by democratic governments across the world to justify their oppression and extermination of people now. The whole treatment of war and of the memory of war is a disgusting, obscene spectacle. Witnessing the hordes of American and European tourists touting their cameras round the Genotaph on Sunday summed up the pointless consumerist blindness of it all. Such blindness is behind the NF brainwashing techniques, which is why they can justify laying a wreath alongside Kinnoch's. Personally I want no part in such a ceremony. I want to confront fascists.

So how to defeat this insular, frightening fascism of the NF, BNP etc? The racism is so ingrained, so deep, that I can't imagine a few kicks about the body changing their minds a jot. The answer seems to lie in successfully propagandising against the fascists, something the established AFA are brilliant at - showing effectively that there is an opposition, that it makes sound sense, and that it is prepared to fight against racism. Demonstrating against the NF might not make them change their minds, but it does let others know that there is a large body of people who stand against fascism. The radio reports of Sunday's events were the first time the words "Anti-Fascist Action" have been used nationally on radio, and in conjunction with the report of the National Front laying a wreath it seemed an important step. Without saying so, the report thus put into the listeners' minds the idea that the National Front were the fascists. And kicking fascists might not drum brain-cells into their heads but it does let them and others know that they can't carry on their perverse bigoted actions unchecked. That's what's important. When a movement realises it has no solid public support above a few thousand cranks, it tends to become ineffective. The swing to the Right in accepted politics has also taken much of the fascist's support from them - why join the NF when the Tories will do the job neater?

Which is why the NF are now embarking on a plan for becoming a terrorist organisation. It is their only option. To destabilise society in the hope that society will then become ripe for fascist take-over. Perhaps our tactics as anti-fascists are driving them into that corner - and perhaps also we must be prepared to change and challenge them when- and if - they change.

A.F.A. ASKS ALL ANTI-FASCIST SUPPORTERS TODAY TO BE EXTREMELY PATIENT AND DISCIPLINED. PLEASE OBEY THE CHIEF STEWARDS GROUP INSTRUCTIONS. ENSURE THAT YOU HAVE AN AIRBAND-WEARING STEWARD FOR YOUR OWN GROUP.

It is important that this march goes off in a peaceful & dignified way.

Having frequencies open once again on the LMS Enterprise. Be the same tonight at 21.00hrs. Aired and Spoke. Thursday BBC6, 6.0 pm Star Trek.

Campaign Against Police Repression

PUBLIC ORDER

ACT PASSED!

MARCH

Saturday 29 November
 Assemble: 12 noon, Clock Tower Place, Market Rd,
 London N7 (Close to Caledonian Rd. tube)

NO MORE DEMONSTRATIONS?

On October 29th the Public Order Bill was passed in the House of Lords. By the time you read this the Commons stamp of approval and the Queen's Royal Assent will have been given. This means: THE PUBLIC ORDER BILL IS PASSED. The Act will probably become law on January 1st 1987.

Now, there can be no more hesitating on our part. If we want to maintain our right to demonstrate we must fight for it, every way we can.

Mohtise: for the first national demonstration against the Act, taking place on SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 29TH, AT MARKET ROAD PARK, LONDON N7 (CALLEDONIAN RD TURN).

Publicise: write to newspapers, magazines, radio stations – tell everybody.

HUNT SABBS

Leeds City Group had a meeting last Tuesday. As many ways as possible were thought of to raise money for the new van which is needed. The old van's engine knackered 2 weeks ago and the van has been sold off for £100. It was also decided that any future violence would be answered with force. And for the first time, I know that if I get into trouble, there will be 19 people behind me. Tremendous feeling of unity and togetherness. How to combine brilliant meetings with positive action. The best sab group I have experienced. Roll on Saturday!

HAPPY BIRTHDAY?

HE HAS NOW BEEN GOING FOR A YEAR. PRETTY GOOD EH? THAT MEANS THAT THIS MUST BE THE 53RD ISSUE. JUST FOR A SPACE FILLER, WE'VE PRINTED A COPY OF THE FIRST EVER EDITIONS FRONT COVER.

GOSSIP FROM THE LINK UP

THE VAN : The @Link-Up owns the brown ex-ambulance which is used by many groups and individuals.

All the work on this has come down to three people and now, quite rightly, they don't want to do it anymore. The van needs more or less constant attention. We decided that if we couldn't find anyone to do this in 4 weeks we would sell the van.

Whoever does look after it really has to be around when it's being hired out and returned. The van would probably have to be based with them. It would be possible to run the van on enterprise allowance. We also considered giving the van to other groups to run on condition we could also use it.

This has to be sorted out now. If you know anyone or any people who could take over the van, you have 4 weeks to get in touch with the Link-Up.

@ CENTRE : The search is on for an anarchist centre. We don't want a city centre site because we want it to be a base for neighbourhood action. Bring possible addresses and plans to next Link Up 20th Nov.

MARKET CAMPAIGN : We plotted-out a market users group, and a campaign of information and direct action to build up a large movement to save the market.

HMM...SOUNDS LIKE A GOOD CAUSE

FUCK OFF

LEEDS BUST FUND

DESPERATELY NEEDS DONATIONS:

1 PERSON FINES TO PAY AFTER ALF RAID ON A RABBIT FARM;

4 PEOPLE ON REMAND IN PRISON, AWAITING TRIAL IN CONNECTION WITH A LLOYDS BANK PETROL - BOMBING; 34 PEOPLE ARRESTED DURING A 'RIOT' AFTER A CONFLICT GIG, CHARGED WITH PUBLIC ORDER OFFENCES (PENDING FURTHER CHARGES...).

"LEEDS BUST FUND" % BOX A.S.S.
59 COOKRIDGE STREET, LEEDS
LS2 3AW, W. YORKS. THANKS.

FUTURE OF LINK-UPS : Some people don't come because they're fed up with just talking, about things - so somebody said. This rumour is backed-up by the article in last week's NL. "is for action". The writer asks what do Link-Ups do for "actually getting out there and doing it"?

Link-Ups plan legal and semi-legal group activity. It is essential that there is something that newcomers can get involved in - a public face to Leeds. All illegal direct action is worthless if it isn't linked-into a movement which is visible, which is involved in daily life. Link-Ups organize support for other people - picketing, leafletting, demonstrations. This may sound dull. But if you're not involved in it or associated with it, all the "getting out there" will do nothing at all.

I'm sure writing this won't change any minds. I don't feel I have anything in common with the person who wrote "is for action". Its smug attitude that anyone who wanted the Link-Ups to continue was somehow "not hip to the scene". Its idiotic "I've got anarchy inside me", "anarchy is everywhere" catch phrases. Was this really meant to be an answer to criticism of Leeds anarchists?

Anarchism is a revolutionary movement. It's about change in the daily life of millions of people. A lot of Leeds anarchists aren't anarchists at all. If you're not involved in the Link-Up then all your smashed windows are just an adolescent rebellion.

CONVICT

May can't the two things go hand in hand? They seem totally compatible to me. One can't work without the other. So... just get on with it in our own separate ways, together?
